Attractive Desserts.

QUEEN CAKE.—A cupful sugar, one-half cupful butter, one-half cupful milk, three eggs, a cupful flour; stir sugar and butter to a cream, add the yolks of the eggs with milk, then flour, into which has been stirred two heaping teaspoonfuls baking powder and cornstarch; beat thoroughly together; add whites of eggs beaten last.

Washington Pie.—Butter size of a small egg, creamed; add a cupful of granulated sugar and mix to a smooth cream. Break one egg into butter and sugar mixture and beat until light, three-quarters cupful of sweet milk, one and one-half cupfuls of sifted flour (measured after sifting) and sifted again with a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in two layer tins. Cream filling or just whipped cream is nice.

Lemon Pie.—Cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls flour, small piece of butter (melted), grated rind and juice of one lemon, yolks of two eggs, a cupful milk, whites of two eggs beaten stiff; bake in one crust for forty-five minutes in a very slow oven.

Orange Tapioca.—Soak two tablespoonfuls of tapioca in two cupfuls of water overnight. Then cook slowly in double boiler until clear. Add four tablespoonfuls of sugar and a little lemon juice; stir five minutes and pour over four oranges that have been peeled and cut in small pieces. Chill and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Cranberry Sherbet.—To one quart of cranberry juice add the juice of five oranges and two pounds of granulated sugar. Mix well together and pour into ice cream freezer and freeze to a mushy consistency. Whip the whites of four eggs very stiff and stir into the mushy mixture, then complete the freezing. This is delicious served with a heavy dinner and makes a change from cranberry sauce.

THE CAKE BOX.

CREAM SPONGE CAKE.—Break two eggs into a cup and fill the cup with sweet cream. Add a cupful of sugar and beat. Add two cupfuls of sifted flour, in which two teaspoonfuls of baking powder have been sifted.

Easy Chocolate Cake.—Yolks of two eggs, a cupful of sugar, a little less than half a cupful of butter, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, two scant cupfuls of flour, in which a teaspoonful of baking powder has been sifted. Frost with the following: Whites of two eggs, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, a square of unsweetened chocolate.

Six Months' Cake.—Two-thirds of a cupful of butter, a cupful of sugar, creamed together; two eggs, half a cupful of milk, half a cupful of molasses, two and a half cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half a teaspoonful of soda, a cupful of chopped raisins, a teaspoonful of mixed pulverized spices. Will keep six months.

Nut Cake.—Half a cupful of butter, one and a half cupfuls of sugar, creamed together; three eggs beaten, half a cupful of milk, half a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, two and a half cupfuls of sifted flour, a cupful of chopped walnuts or pecans.

Lemon Sponge Cake.—A large tablespoonful of butter, a cupful of sugar, three eggs, a tablespoonful of milk, a cupful of flour, in which two teaspoonfuls of baking powder has been mixed before sifting. Bake in two layers. Filling: A cupful of cold water, an egg, a cupful of sugar, juice and grated rind of a lemon, a large tablespoonful of cornstarch. Cook in double boiler until thick.

Light Cake.—Butter, size of an egg, creamed thoroughly with a cupful of sugar. Break two eggs into a teacup. Fill cup with sweet milk. Pour milk and eggs on to butter and sugar. Add two cupfuls of flour, with which two teaspoonfuls of baking powder have been sifted; mix and bake quickly. All cakes, of course, can be flavored to taste.

Orange Cake.—Half a cupful of butter and a cupful of sugar creamed thoroughly. Add the grated rind of a large orange for flavoring. Two eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted twice, with one and a half cupfuls of flour. Bake in long tins. Take juice of two oranges, one and a half cupfuls of powdered sugar and beat. Pour over top of cake after it is baked and somewhat cooled.

The Scrap Book

A Modest Wish.

Montague Glass, the creator of "Potash and Perlmutter," says an acquaintance of his, a clothing manufacturer on the east side of New York, received a call from a city salesman representing a notions, trimming and button house. The visitor began to spread out his samples.

"Put 'em up! Put 'em up!" said the manufacturer in a tired business man tone. "I wouldn't care to look at nothing what you got."

"But, Mr. Cohen!"

"S' nough! I won't look. Please go away."

The salesman gazed at him admiringly.

"Mr. Cohen," he said, "I only wish one thing—I wish I had only fifty customers like you."

"I told you I didn't wish to see nothing what you got."

"Sure, you did, and that's why I say I wish I had only fifty customers like you. Instead, I got 200!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Service.
A poor man served by thee
Shall make thee rich.
A sick man helped by thee
Shall make thee strong.
Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
Of service which thou renderest.
—E. B. Browning.

Uncle Joe's Story.
Former Speaker Cannon tells this story of his early impecunious days:

"One of my friends was a struggling physician. Neither fame nor fortune had come to either of us, but we were always hopeful. The years had weighed heavily on my friend, however, for he soon lost his hair, being quite bald.

"One day I greeted him with a beaming countenance and exclaimed:

"What do you think, Henry? I have just bought an office safe."

"Then, Joe," said he, with the utmost gravity, "I shall buy a hairbrush." — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

His Fine Marksmanship.

At the time of the second empire there had been at Compiègne a great and elegant hunting party, with a tremendous massacre of hares and pheasants and other game. Standing in chosen spots, the emperor and his followers had the game driven up before them and had nothing to do but shoot it down. These high born hunters had but to stoop to pick up the game that they shot; but they did not even do as much as that. Their valets, dressed in picturesque costumes, went about picking up their game for them. As the hunters returned after the day's sport it was noticed that Prosper Merimee, who was one of the party, was the only one whose servant was not laden with game. He was left completely in the lurch, as it were, without having taken so much as a sparrow.

"Well, well!" his literary fellows exclaimed. "How did they manage to get away from you?"

"When game is so plenty as that," said Merimee gravely, "the merit of a marksman lies in hitting nothing. So I fired between the birds."

The Dialect Was There.

Governor Bob Taylor of Tennessee was once entertaining a northern guest who was rather skeptical about the prevailing dialect in stories of southern negroes. He thought it overdrawn. To disprove the contention, Mr. Taylor laughingly made a wager with his guest that the northerner would be unable to interpret the language of the first negro they met. Accordingly they set out and presently came upon a black man basking indolently in the sun. Telling his friend to pay close heed, Mr. Taylor stepped up to the negro and demanded suddenly:

"Web he?"

The negro blinked his eyes stolidly and then answered in a guttural voice:

"Wah who?"—Everybody's.

Her Best Behavior.

"I often give my pupils half of a story and ask them to finish it in their own way," said a schoolteacher in relating some of her experiences. "One day I told them about a little girl named Gertrude, who started out one Monday morning with the resolve that she was going to be as good all day long as if it were a Sunday. She started for school, but had not gone very far when she met a little girl crying. 'That is where I left the story for the children to finish. They were to relate what Gertrude did. This is the way the most serious boy in school completed the plot. Gertrude saw the little girl crying, so she went up to her and asked her what was the matter. 'I had two pennies,' said the little girl, 'and a big boy took one of them away.' 'Oh, that is too bad!' said Gertrude. 'What did you do?' 'Oh, I cried, 'Help, help!' just like that," said the little girl. 'Why, is that the londest you can call?' asked Gertrude. 'Yes,' replied the little girl. 'I have a bad cold and can't call any louder than that.' So Gertrude took the other penny away from her."
